HEART EMERGENCY life procedures class at St. Elizabeth Hospital held for interested community members. The two-hour course covered basic procedures to follow in assisting a heart attack victim until professional help is available. The class included a slide presentation, and demonstration and practice with "Resusc-Ann", a life-size mannequin. The course was taught by Anthony Marquez, Trauma Center coordinator. Pictured is Doris George applying external heart massage to "Resusc-Ann".

School vote discussed by officials

A political opponent of Mayor Paul Schuler told the Press-Record that key politicians conferred at Charlie's Restaurant Thursday afternoon with two members of the Granite City Board of Education regarding the April 13 board election.

Contacted Friday, Mayor Schuler denied that there is any organized move "on our part" in the school election.

"I went out to chat with them," he said in reference to names of those said to have been at the meeting.

The group included some of the Granite Cityans associated with county government, the Press-Record index.

Canvass shows Democratic ballot edge 30,547-5,391

In contrast to an advance estimate of 29,000 Democratic votes and 8,900 Republican ballots, the actual tally was 30,547 to 5,391 in the March 19 primary election in Madison County.

The canvassing board was composed of county Clerk Eulalia Hotz, Democrat James F. Chapman of Collinsville and Republican M. G. Schuette of Edwardsville.

Its work was completed Friday. A possible rematch has developed for the Madison County Board position in District 21.

Daniel J. Partney defeated incumbent Carl V. Buehler 745 to 521 in the Democratic primary but Buehler led on the Republican side with two write-in votes to one each for six others. A legal ruling has been sought from the state's attorney.

city and the levee district as well as an attorney. Mayor Schuler said they "naturally talked about" the school election in a casual way because "Stuckie is a friend of ours." Board President Donald Stuckie is among those seeking re-election next week.

The mayor said there was no discussion of any organized campaigning or political efforts concerning the school election.

won the Democratic nomination in District 19 with 1,170 votes. On the GOP ticket, Ralph Astorian, a non-resident, received three votes and Webb one vote each.

The law does not allow a candidate to accept the nominations of both parties. A similar situation in District 26 shows incumbent Louis Whitsett winning with 801 to 735 for Edgar Patrick and 188 for Bill Gibbons, Democrat; and Whitsett leading on the GOP side with five votes to three for Jack Egles, two each for Patrick and Floyd Moss and one each for nine persons.

In District 16, Walter Sparks won the Democratic nomination with 629 to 568 for Bill Thoeke and 385 for incumbent Albert Doerr. Bob Douglas and Herman Green each received two Republican votes and 16 persons received one vote each.

Both parties to Saturday's public hearing on air pollution — the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and Granite City Steel — emphasized that they agree on the need to install a coke pushing control system to limit emissions from GC Steel coke ovens.

Both admit that a problem exists. They differ over which of two control systems to install. But just in case anyone doubted that pollution problems exist, the public was invited to report its observations, and 15 Granite Cityans accepted the opportunity to testify.

Their comments included the following:
Kester Essington, 257 E. 23rd St.:
"It's gradually getting worse. Particles get on windows and car windshields. You have wash your car two to five times a week. I have emphysema, and when the wind is from the south I don't go outside except to go to the car."

"When the smoke is heavy, you can't get your breath. You can't have any windows open. We have aluminum storm windows, and my wife has to clean the sills inside them every week."

"It takes a strong detergent to clean the house paint; you can't hose it off. We have to repaint every year. Whatever they're doing, it isn't helping to stop it."

Norman Martinez, 2327 Alexander Ave.:
"It's been pretty bad in the last year. There's black soot and grime when the wind is from the Southwest."

"Our nice neat door has a little boy. My wife had him out in the yard and his head turned black with the dirt in 15 or 20 minutes."

Martinez's wife, Norma:
"It gets on clothes, the porch, sheets and curtains. You can't plan ahead to barbecue outdoors because you don't know whether it will be bad that day."

Mrs. Martha Ebrecht, 2629 E. 27th St.:
"Three or four weeks ago there was a terrible odor from the coke ovens."

"There has been too much discussion of the problem and not enough work done on it." Her remarks drew applause from the audience.

Robert Feiner, 2523 E. 23rd St.:
"I was born here 44 years ago. I was raised by Granite City Steel. I look on Granite City Steel as a neighbor, but a bad neighbor when there is smoke and intended that it be located here. He was scoutmaster and charter member of the council. Korte said a Johnson Road building was proposed as a possible office site but that the committee opposes it."

He said he favors a site "near Interstate 270 between Highways 111 and 157." Other committee members are: Merrill Ottewill, Jack Moser, H. Karandjeff and Jack Holshouser.

President E. Ray Grahman presided Thursday's council executive board meeting. Financial reports showed the council has been borrowing against the Graham controlling the office of County funds to meet operating expenses although it continues to spend more than it receives from regular fund sources each month.

A motion to halt such borrowing because it is bankrupting the council was tabled by an 18-10 vote to permit a 30-day study by the budget and finance committees.

Ed Edwards was elected to a vice-president vacancy created by the resignation of Norman Kinder.

"I live one mile north of the plant and am bothered by the dirt. I hope they can get rid of the pollution as soon as possible."

Naomi Kinney, 2639 E. 23rd St.:
"The stuff puts the paint on our auto. You can't hang out laundry, and odor is terrible. The prevailing wind is from the South, and sometimes it sounds like there is rain falling on the fiberglass carport."

"A visitor asks me, 'What smells so bad, Grandma?'"

"A lot of the time it's pretty bad."

James E. Vaughn, 2605 E. 23rd St.:
"The emissions have been worse than ever before. Three or four weeks ago the entire pavement was covered. I sweep my walk at least twice a week. I can get a cup full in a 50x3-foot area."

"It's a gray powdery dust on the car and on the sidewalk it looks black. If it's damp it's difficult to get off the car. It's sometimes a sticky substance."

"It's even a problem when the wind is from the north."

"I can sometimes see the red glare from the ovens, and now and then they leave them open too long."

Mrs. Ann Mega, 2646 Lincoln Ave.:
"My daughter had to move to Belleville to clear up her little girls' sinus. The emissions cause my nose to run for several weeks at a time when I have no cold."

"The paint gets discolored and the aluminum storm shades are pitted. How long it is going to take? Things haven't been getting any better. The dirt and grit sometimes make a roaring sound."

"Pray first if you want to have a barbecue."

Mathew Kezele, 1509 Joy Ave.:
"I live 1.6 miles from the coke plant and have driven there when it's bad and seen the emissions coming out. It was a March 12 and 13; March 19 at 9:20 a.m.; March 20 at 4 p.m.; and the evening of March 22."

"I'm entitled to fresh air and I want it. We also ought to be able to drive along the highway by the plant without having a mist get onto passing cars."

"I started a garden with tomatoes, lettuce and green onions, and the vegetables become covered with soot."

McMillan, co-captain of the football Cardinals, will speak at the Granite City Saturday night Eagle scout recognition dinner at 6:30 p.m. April 30 at Sunset Hills Country Club.

want the best anti-pollution system installed, no matter how long it takes."

Florence Farmer, 2521 E. 23rd St.:
"There is grit and smoke and a sticky substance that we have to breathe."

"We don't have enough money for air-conditioning, and we have to breathe it or roast in the summer."

George Flach, 2651 E. 23rd St.:
"When there's a fresh snow, look at it the next day. They turn brown if it is night, usually."

"I work for American Steel and they've been able to avoid pollution there by installing electric furnaces. It can be done."

John Ascraft, 2653 Lincoln Ave.:
"I'm a Granite City Steel employee, a stove tender on the A Furnace. The dust bothers my boy, who had bronchial asthma at birth."

"They spend a lot of money and work overtime to rebuild the blast furnace. I would like to see them work harder to install the controls."

Casmer Skubish, 2701 Lincoln Ave.:

Differences of opinion are said to make the world go around. But disagreement over how best to curtail emissions from Granite City Steel coke ovens may delay the eventual remedy, it was brought out at a series of Illinois Pollution Control Board hearings in Madison County last week.

Two years ago, the steel plant was given 30 months by the IPCB in which to devise and install an anti-pollution system, with progress to be reviewed yearly.

A mobile hood enclosure is now within 18 months of operation, but the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency is dissatisfied with the design.

The EPA favors a shed structure developed by Great Lakes Carbon Co. of St. Louis, but estimates that it would require 30 or more months from now to complete and install.

Until a decision is reached on one system or the other, both are in limbo and the 18-month or 30-month periods will not begin.

Highly critical of the state proposal but emphasizing its desire to end emissions during coke pushing operations, the steel plant last week revised its proposal to include not only water jets to restrain coke emissions but also a method of pulling them into a scrubbing device.

Engineers and other experts testifying at the hearings disagreed over the relative effectiveness of the hood and shed plans. Neither has been fully constructed and operated anywhere in the nation.

The hearings included technical presentations and also an opportunity at the City Hall Granite City Saturday afternoon for citizens to speak.

Robert McKeachan served as hearing officer and the principal witnesses were Randall Robertson for Granite City Steel and Michael Ginsburg for the EPA.

Much of their questioning dealt with the public's desire for a prompt but effective solution. The limited scope of the questions to the period from April 1973 to the present.

At stake is a three-year variance and permission for Granite City Steel to install the coke pushing system it recommends.

Dr. Donald Cairns, vice-president of the local division of National Steel Corp., contends that the hood plan will work.

Walter Frank of the EPA regional office in Collinsville says he does not want to wait to see whether it does, and cites a monitoring station in Collinsville indicating that one location is statistically the worst point monitored in the state.

Dr. Cairns said preliminary tests show the hood will work as well or better than a shed. "Smoke house" he asserted that the latter would pose severe safety and health hazards for employees as well as creating new water pollution and solid waste disposal problems involving 3,000 pounds daily.

"A mobile hood enclosure equipped with internally-mounted water sprays on the coke guide, which moves along the coke ovens, can be installed in half the time and costs far less to install and operate," he said.

"The hood would be as nauseated by the soot as a scrubber. It would be used along with an existing water-fogging quencher car and would control emissions from the coke is in transit to the quench tower."

The state method would not control emissions as the hood travels to the tower. It would cost $5 million or $6 million compared to $200,000 to install, as well as more to operate, and it would consume about 16 times more energy—4,300 horsepower to 200 or 300 horsepower."

On Thursday afternoon, during a hearing in the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville, the hearing examiner ruled that the steel company did not have to give the EPA its full list of customers.

The Illinois Supreme Court ruled Friday that the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and Pollution Control Board have the authority to impose fines.

Propose moving scout office

A plan to move the Cahokia Mount Boy Scout Council headquarters from Granite City to a new building to be erected elsewhere is under active consideration, Ralph Korte, chairman of a special building committee, reported Thursday night.

He estimated that an office structure could be built for $20 a square foot, totaling $40,000. Carl Graham, late owner of Graham's Book Store, contributed a substantial sum toward the cost of creating a new Boy Scout council office and intended that it be located here. He was scoutmaster and charter member of the council. Korte said a Johnson Road building was proposed as a possible office site but that the committee opposes it."

He said he favors a site "near Interstate 270 between Highways 111 and 157." Other committee members are: Merrill Ottewill, Jack Moser, H. Karandjeff and Jack Holshouser.

President E. Ray Grahman presided Thursday's council executive board meeting. Financial reports showed the council has been borrowing against the Graham controlling the office of County funds to meet operating expenses although it continues to spend more than it receives from regular fund sources each month.

A motion to halt such borrowing because it is bankrupting the council was tabled by an 18-10 vote to permit a 30-day study by the budget and finance committees.

Ed Edwards was elected to a vice-president vacancy created by the resignation of Norman Kinder.

It was decided 22-6 to name Robert Simon as director of the council, to be paid $200 monthly and to send him to a special training course.

Those submitting reports included Holshouser, Leo Schuette, J. Schuette, Mrs. Mary Tarpo, Melvin L. Gillie, David Giese and Reg Mennerich.

Democrat Simmons is unopposed; Astorian seeks GOP leadership

Edwardsville, where the Republican convention is to get under way at 8 p.m. in Court Room 2, just across the hall from the Democratic headquarters.

Seeking the Republican county chairmanship are Ralph Astorian of Granite City, chairman of the precinct committee, and Charles R. O'Neil, a farmer and committeeman of precinct 16, Hartsfield Township, while Astorian has the backing of Quad-City committeeman, O'Neil represents a rural bloc of committeemen who have a far greater number of Republican votes cast than the Quad-City committeemen.

The Democrats reportedly will offer no opposition to the reelection of Walter T. "Buck" Korte, incumbent Venice chairman of the County Democratic Central Committee.

Tonight's conventions, which are by law and must be held within 48 days of the date of the election, follow a series of township and district conventions.

Rainfall measured 36.6 of an inch, with 33 of an inch recorded Saturday night and another 3.6 of an inch recorded Saturday at the Chain of Rocks Locks where weather records are maintained for the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The heavy winds knocked down some tree limbs throughout the area, according to Lionel Portell, Granite City street superintendent, who said tree damage was only minor. The Illinois Power Co. reported only a few isolated service calls for individual house lines during and after the storm.

The Friday and Saturday rainfall measurements brought to 2.74 inches the total fall for the month of March. The 1974 total is an inch more than the 1.74 total during the month of February.

Revise state test scoring

The Illinois Department of Personnel last week announced revision of its method of scoring tests.

In place of the designations "A", "B", "C", and "D", the new system will make use of "well qualified", "qualified", "minimally qualified" and "ineligible" as a way to avoid careless labeling as well as to avert the unwarranted expectations of applicants.

Noan B. Jones, department director, said, "The change in no way alters existing eligibility lists. Present lists will remain intact."

A spokesman for the department said misreading standings often occur because most people have fixed reactions to the conventionalized educational grading system.

For instance, in the merit system, "B" does not always mean "very good." If an eligibility list includes many who made "A," those who made "B" have little chance of being hired.

By the same standard, an "F" which appears to label applicants as failures may indicate nothing more than that a particular test did not accurately measure individual ability, he said.

A graduate of a technical high school, for example, could be expected to read a blue-print with greater precision than an individual whose training is largely academic. Thus, he asserted, the scoring system instead is largely reflecting ability to do a particular job often implies a subjective judgment.

Jones commented further: "Precision in scoring and fairness to applicants are major goals of the department."

The board of directors of Illinois Power Co., at a meeting Thursday, declared regular quarterly dividends of:

51 cents per share on 4.08 per cent cumulative preferred stock; 53½ cents share on 4.20 per cent cumulative preferred; 53½ cents on 4.26 per cent; 55½ cents on 4.42 per cent; 58½ cents on 4.70 per cent; $1.03 per share on 3.24 per cent cumulative preferred stock; 94½ cents on the 7.56 per cent cumulative preferred; and 55 cents per share on the common stock of the company.

The dividends are all payable May 1 to stockholders of record on April 10.

Police stop burglary

Granite City police Thursday stopped a burglary in progress at Calvary Baptist Church, 30th Street and Washington Avenue. Officers said as they drove past a parked pickup truck, the truck's driver yelled toward the church, "Here's the cops." Two men carrying an air conditioner from the church dropped it, ran to the truck and the three men eluded officers.

New move against hemophilia

This program is designed to help those who cannot afford the expensive treatments and cannot qualify for other programs that assist hemophiliacs.

The program will reimburse hospitals, pharmacies, blood banks and other health providers from a $500,000 state appropriation.

Hemophiliacs suffer from a shortage of blood clotting factors which prevent excessive bleeding.

Thus, they are sometimes unable to stop bleeding from external cuts or internal hemorrhaging unless treated with special drugs or blood components.

The Hemophilia Foundation estimates that injections of clotting factors cost

Gov. Dan Walker on Thursday announced the launching of a statewide program to help combat the blood disorder hemophilia.

He said the state Department of Public Health is contacting all Illinois hospitals to determine which are willing and eligible to offer services as hemophilia centers.

Those established as centers will treat hemophiliacs at a lower cost to patients who cannot afford the blood treatments necessary and are not qualified for other sources of assistance.

Gov. Walker said, "About 800 Illinois residents suffer from hemophilia, but are burdened with extra-ordinary medical costs because of their condition."

Kiwanians hear Rev. Hazlwood

The Rev. Jack Hazlwood, a drug abuse evangelist who was in the area speaking at schools and service club meetings, in addition to conducting nightly meetings at Calvary Baptist Church last week spoke to the Thursday morning meeting of the Kiwanis Club at Charlie's Restaurant.

The Rev. Hazlwood said he feels 80 per cent of the drug problem starts in the home with parents seeing their parents take a variety of pills "to put them to sleep, to wake them up, to lose weight," and the parents never explain why they are taking pills.

He emphasized the need for parents to become well informed about drugs and share this information frankly and openly with children.

Opposed to the legislation of marijuana, he said it attacks the white corpses, causes a person to react like an acute alcoholic and has been proven to attack the growth of brain-cells.

Four members of the Evening Kiwanis club, Marvin Barnes, Darrell Weible, Michael Tondas and Peter Jelen, in addition to four members from the Wood River Kiwanis Club, attended the breakfast meeting.

Burglary charged

He allegedly entered the home of Larry York, 2609 Lynch Ave., Nov. 15, 1973, and the following day is charged with having stolen jewelry, a fur stole and other items from the home of Tony Vesel, 3222 Lynch Ave.

Bond was set at $10,000 and he was taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Following the stockholders' meeting, the board re-elected Wendell J. Kelley as president and chief executive officer of the company, which serves the Quad-Cities with electric power and natural gas.

Other officers re-elected by the board were H. G. Meenen and E. A. Shultz, senior vice presidents; R. A. Blakeney, D. R. Davies, W. C. Gerstner, L. N. Talbot and C. W. Wells, vice presidents; and D. F. Meek, secretary-treasurer.

Illinois Power may require deposits of aid clients

A new policy of the Illinois Department of Public Aid in which payment of utility bills will not be guaranteed by the state may force Illinois Power Co. to seek deposits from some of their customers on public aid, but no decision to this effect has yet been made, an IP spokesman said during the weekend.

Effective today, the IDPA no longer will reimburse public aid recipients for their utility bills, but will provide a flat rate for electricity and natural gas. Telephone service is not affected.

If often provided gas and electric service to public aid recipients on the basis of a letter from IDPA guaranteeing payment of bills. "Now we are going to have to treat public aid recipients the same as everyone else," an IP spokesman said.

"Those we do have a problem with, we may have to ask for a deposit. If it will present a hardship on them, we will try to help by taking the deposit in installments," he said.

"We have to protect ourselves against non-payment of bills. If a person is not paying his bills, by the time we stop their service, they already have received two months' service. Therefore, we feel asking twice the highest bill of the previous year would protect us," the spokesman added.

He emphasized that no decisions have been made by IP concerning the new state regulations and the possibility of requiring deposits, but said the company is considering such a program.

It was noted that other area utility companies now are requiring two-and-one-half to three times a customer's hemophiliacs between $1,000 and $10,000 a year.

The Department of Public Health payments will help defray the cost of replacement treatment for eligible hemophiliacs. In addition, the funds will pay for outpatient hemophilia services for adults. The payments will cover costs incurred retroactive to last Jan. 1.

Director of Public Health Dr. Joyce Lashof said hemophiliacs will be required to register for the program at the participating hemophilia center closest to their home.

She urged individuals who want more information to write the Hemophilia Program, Illinois Department of Public Health, 1130 South 6th St., Springfield, Ill. 62763.

Venice youngsters discover reading can be fun

BRILLIANTLY COLORED PICTURES and large easy-to-read type captures the attention of these pre-school youngsters attending a "Right to Read" session in the library at Venice Grade School. Mrs. Gwendolyn Duke, elementary media specialist, displays one of the books used in the program and asks her young charges to identify colors and objects. It's instructive and challenging, but most of all it's fun. And, what better way is there to learn than through an enjoyable experience.

The "Right to Read" program being conducted at Venice Grade School for pre-school and primary level pupils is a pleasant adventure into the world of books.

The Venice School District was nominated and accepted earlier this year as a participant in the National Right to Read Program of the U. S. Office of Education.

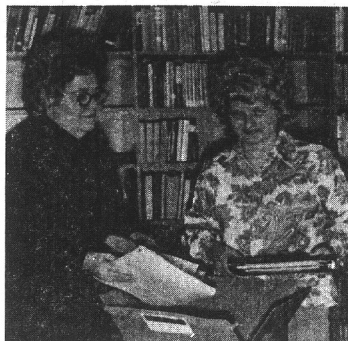

The program is funded through a Title II grant which accepted financial responsibility after the Right to Read project, advocated by President Richard Nixon, remained unfunded at the federal level.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Duke, elementary media specialist, and Marieann Hay, a speech therapist, supervise the reading instruction series at the Venice School.

Mrs. Anna McKinney, Venice Elementary School principal, explained that the local district was selected to take part in the experimental program by successfully meeting standards in its current reading program as evaluated by the American Institutes for Research.

Colorful picture books for reading and others in which the children may use crayons are provided in specially packaged materials furnished through the program.

Youngsters are encouraged to identify, describe and discuss the various objects, familiar and new, scenes and stories which are designed to help broaden their total knowledge and the means for effective learning achievement, the instructors explained.

Efficient kitchen equipment can help conserve energy

Varying combinations of time and energy can be saved when you use the most efficient pan or appliance for the food you are preparing, says Geraldine Acker, University of Illinois foods and nutrition specialist.

Flat-bottom pots and pans that are the same size as the surface burner units help reduce heat problems.

Pots smaller than the burner allow the heat to escape, while pots larger than the burner don't efficiently use the heat during cooking.

If you have a pressure saucan or cooker, use it to cook root vegetables and other long-cooking foods, Miss Acker adds. For best results, watch the minutes carefully. Overcooking can be disastrous as well as a waste of energy.

An electric skillet uses less energy than a frying pan on a surface burner. Some typical oven-cooked foods that may be prepared easily in an electric skillet are pot roasts, creamed dishes, fried biscuits and even "baked" custards, she explains. Microwave ovens use less energy than regular ovens, and do the job in less time. However, not everyone has a microwave oven, and there are many ways to more efficiently use a regular oven.

Avoid preheating any longer than necessary to reach the desired temperature, and don't preheat unless it's essential to successful baking or safe cooking, suggests Miss Acker.

With meats, the oven can be turned off a few minutes before the end of the cooking time, and the residual heat will finish the job.

Portable ovens and broilers are energy savers for small baking loads, Miss Acker continues. They are especially handy for broiling steaks, heating a couple of frozen dinners or rolls, or baking a small casserole.

Whenever you can, use a cooking thermometer so you'll know when the food has reached a specific temperature. You'll not only save energy, but you'll have properly cooked food with more taste appeal.

Refrigerators work more efficiently when air can circulate around the food, she explains.

If your refrigerator is overloaded, consider taking out food items that don't require refrigeration for safe-keeping. These foods include bread, jellies and jams, pickles and catsup.

Avoid opening your refrigerator or freezer door any more than is necessary. This will take the cooperation of all family members because some have the habit of checking the refrigerator every so often just to see what is available.

It's also important to follow the manufacturer's directions for care and maintenance of the refrigerator and freezer.

Defrost them as frequently as needed—whenever the frost becomes one-fourth of an inch thick. Check the seals on the doors and replace any worn ones, Miss Acker concludes.

Theta Theta sets children's party

Mrs. Mary Jane Wasylak, 2404 Terminal Ave., entertained members of Theta Theta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, last week when plans for future events were discussed.

The president, Mrs. Sharon Rush, presided at the business session and announced an Easter party for members' children will be held April 13 in the home of Mrs. Barbara Dickerson.

The group reviewed plans for an area convention to take place April 21 at Fischer's Restaurant, Belleville, and, Mrs. Rush reported the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will be recognized in ceremonies at Busch Stadium, St. Louis, on April 27.

Tentative plans were made for a Mother's Day dinner on May 8 at Kemoll's Restaurant, St. Louis. Theta Theta members will take the exemplar degree on May 22 at a meeting at Charlie's Restaurant, officers said.

An auction was held during the social hour and refreshments were served by the hostess to Pat Chasteen, Judy Russell, Pat Howard, Carol Davis, Cookie Spanberger, Ellen Cain, Julie Gates, Donna Sprankle, Mary Alice Baker and Linda Pickett.

Venice seniors attend events

The Venice Senior Citizens Club attended various social activities during the past week, including a trip to the annual Senior Citizens Fair at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The group also chartered a bus for 50 members to attend the Ice Capades at the St. Louis Arena and held a potluck dinner for 59 persons at the Venice Recreation Center.

At last week's dinner the president, Mrs. Vickie Bilbrey, presented awards to Mrs. Catherine Moser, Mrs. Rosalie Butler and Mrs. Mary Kastelic as the "pot of gold" winners. Mrs. Sue Blattner, secretary, reported tentative plans for several social events club members will attend in April. The group meets every Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. at the Venice Recreation Center.

5...4...3...2...1... Blast off at Parkview

Countdown to blast off echoed on the grounds of Parkview Elementary School recently as 75 students and a few parents repeated the rhythmic cadence... 5...4...3...2...1... before each launching of various prototype model rockets.

The occasion was a demonstration and lecture presented by Robert McBride, a teacher at Marshall School and faculty advisor to the school's Rocket Club.

Excitement swept through the audience as McBride, assisted by Marshall Rocket Club members and Laurent Ferrere, a Granite City High School student, prepared the realistic-looking missiles on their individual launch pads.

Rockets ignited ranged in size from two inches tall to the giant-size Saturn 5, a 43-inch model powered by a solid propellant fuel.

An electrical hookup from a car battery to the rocket base generates the power to heat up an igniter. The system enables the missiles to be launched by remote control with no danger to the spectators or youthful rocketeers, McBride explained.

In addition to his activities with the Marshall School Rocket Club, McBride instructed rocketry in the Granite City School District's gifted program during the summer months.

Pupils at Parkview School indicated interest in forming their own rocket club following the demonstration, the Marshall faculty member reported.

"BIG BERTHA ROCKET", about 24 inches tall, is readied for blast-off by Laurent Ferrere, a Granite City High School student, at left. Despite Laurie Ferrere's hands clasped over the ears, the rocket cannot be ignited until an electrical connection is hooked to a car battery and a safety key inserted in a remote switch panel. Sixth grade students Jay Osborn, right, and Laurie Ferrere are members of the Marshall School Rocket Club.

Shower fetes June bride-elect

Miss Barbara Wisniewski of North Las Vegas, Nev., was guest of honor at a bridal shower given last week by four aunts of the prospective groom, Arthur G. Rathewicz, at the Venice Recreation Center.

The wedding of the couple will take place June 7 at the U.S. Air Force Academy Chapel in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Hosting the affair were Mesdames Ann Boelling, Helen Holcik, Jane Zelinski and Jean Ratkiewicz.

Pastel colors decorated the tables and the buffet table was centered with arrangements of spring flowers in white vases. Two large net sprinkling cans and a shower umbrella were placed on the gift table.

Those assisting at the party were Mesdames Gerry Friend, Rita Rathewicz, Sophie Leleniewski, Marsha Wilmes, Cathy Rathewicz and Misses Kathy Parmley, Sharon and Linda Leleniewski, Alexis Rozyko and Mary Frances Pask.

The bride-to-be was assisted in opening her gifts by her sister, Miss Alene Wisniewski, who will be maid of honor, and several cousins of the groom.

Prizes were awarded and refreshments were served to Mrs. Myra Wisniewski, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Frances Rathewicz, mother of the prospective groom, Mrs. Hattie Rathewicz, grandmother; and Helen Mooshegan, Janice Kouszek, Theresa Rozyko, Johanna Yureck, Vicky and Jane Zelinski, Marge Lyerla, Janet Gnojewski, Peggy Bauer, Bernice Cholewicki, Jean Ratkiewicz, Ann, Cecelia, Regina and Judy Kowalczyk, Bernice Wojcik, Loretta Choinka, Florence Portell, Stella Gnojewski, Julia Rozyko, Lorraine Gonterman, Nellie Zarzecki, Joan and Peggy Mollenbrand.

Those winning prizes in the card games were Mesdames Pauline Stephens, Elvera Thuerber, Ruby Hornberger and the hostess.

Also present were Mrs. Penny Osley, Mrs. Creola Warnhoff, Mrs. Lillian Naeve and a new member, Mrs. Margaret Belt. Mrs. Hornberger invited members to her home for the April 23 meeting.

ROCKETRY is explained by Robert McBride, facing group, a Marshall School faculty member and sponsor of the school's Rocket Club, who gave a practical demonstration by launching different model rocket prototypes for pupils at Parkview Grade School.

Tentative plans were made for a fall bazaar and a past noble grand night to be observed April 23.

Members with March birthdays who were honored, included Edith Carpenter, Irma Graves, Lucille Veach, Daisy Burnett and Althea Lassen. Refreshments were served to 20 members and a guest, Mrs. Angles Meng.

Mrs. Kruger hosts AC 8 Pinochle Club

Mrs. Sue Kruger, 1707 Sycamore Ave., entertained the AC 8 Pinochle Club last week in her home.

Second place finishers were Garrett in the 100 yard dash and the 440 yard relay team. Thirds went to Garrett in the triple jump, James Redmon in the 800 yard run and Ivan Simms in the discus.

Madison will host Roxanna at 4 p.m. today.

Madison trackmen second in meet

Madison High School's Trojan trackmen earned eight first place honors last week but finished second behind Triad in a triangular track and field meet at Madison.

Triad collected 81 points and Madison was close behind with 76. Third was East St. Louis Assumption with 21.

Madison anticipated a victory in the two-mile run which could have advanced them into first place, but standout distance runner Mike Walker was unable to compete due to an illness.

Trojan victories were by Chris Stanley in the high hurdles (1:15.5) and the low hurdles (45), Willie Shearry in pole vault (12 feet, a new school record) and high jump (6-6). Kevin Boyd in the 100 yard dash (16.5), the 440 yard run (54.6) and the 220 yard dash (23.7).

The 800 yard relay squad of Carl Bandy, Lamont Garrett,

Sunday to Winona State had made a win over Indiana State a team order for the Cougars to share trophy honors; both SIUE and Winona had a 2-1 record to tie for the title.

Driver dies after crash at dragstrip

Gene Domagalski, the driver of the Frito Bandito top fuel dragster, was fatally injured in an accident yesterday at St. Louis International Raceway south of Madison.

Domagalski had just completed a quarter mile run side-by-side with Gary Dye at the wheel of the Grange Dodge when the Frito Bandito swerved right at 202 miles per hour, left the track surface and became airborne. The dragster came down nose first and the front of the car stuck in the ground.

The vehicle then flew into pieces with the roll cage, containing Domagalski, flipping several times beside the track. The impact broke a weld in the roll cage, causing the metal bars to hit the driver's head.

Emergency personnel required several minutes to remove the driver from the car. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis suffering apparent broken bones and head injuries. He was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, where he died a short time later.

Jim Murphy in the Beebe and Murphy car won the first round when Sid Seelye in the Donnelly and Seelye car red lighted.

Ron McQueen in the McQueen and Sanders car then defeated Ed Van Horn's Hallucination car and Dick LaHae was first in a race with the Chapman Charger, driven by Arnie Bebling.

In the second round, Murphy topped LaHae and Dye defeated McQueen.

Murphy took home the top money after defeating Dye in the finals, the Beebe and Murphy car covering the quarter mile in 6.510 seconds, finishing at 216.35 miles-per-hour. Dye's final run was 6.708 seconds at 200.90 m.p.h.

Other competition yesterday included eliminations in street, super street, selectra and all trophy classes.

Eight nitro-methane fuel burning funny cars will highlight next week's program at St. Louis International Raceway south of Madison.

News notes

Vice President Gerald Ford, speaking at Midwest Republican conference Saturday in Chicago, said, "Never again must Americans allow an arrogant elite guard of political adolescents like the Committee to Re-elect the President to bypass the regular Republican Party organization." The Committee helped Pres. Nixon gain re-election in 1972 and has come under severe criticism for campaign abuses.

John G. Bravley, Ferguson mayor, Bi-State Development Agency board chairman and Trans World Airlines passenger sales manager, will leave all those posts to head the new Missouri State Department of Transportation.

A federal grand jury in Cleveland Friday indicted eight National Guardsmen who had been sent to Kent State University May 4, 1970, to quell student demonstrations. Four students were killed and nine wounded by gunfire. The eight are charged with willfully assaulting and intimidating the demonstrators by firing in their direction and violating their civil rights.

U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy (R, Illinois), a 1976 Presidential contender, told 1,000 GOP leaders Friday night in Chicago that Republicans must make it clear that the Watergate scandal does not represent the party's traditional values and beliefs.

Paper handlers on Sunday afternoon rejected a Post-Dispatch contract offer but continued working for the time being. They asked that federal mediator join the talks. The original negotiating deadline was midnight last night.

U.S. Gov. Neil Hartigan would like to be named the state's official ombudsman help citizens with government problems. His comments, "Government and public alike can ill afford the luxury of supporting a high-level elected official with no prescribed duties and only ceremonial responsibilities."

A federal grand jury was told at Chicago last week that a $250,000 contributed was rejected by the manager of Paul Simon's 1972 campaign for governor. William P. Colson said the prospective donor wanted to be able to name the state transportation director.

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council last week approved a 1974-86 plan for development of highways and mass transit. Also approved was five-year transit program written by Bi-State Development Agency, including purchase of buses during the next two years.

Trial of ten agents charged with making mistaken drug raids last April is likely to go to the jury tomorrow when the case is re-opened in Alton. The defense rested its presentation Thursday.

Fewer deaths occurred in Illinois last year than the previous year but the natural increase in population has dropped from 85,104 in 1971 and 86,710 in 1972 to 58,973 in 1973. There were 2,519 more marriages and 2,159 more divorces in Illinois last year than in 1972. Nationally, deaths rose from 1,962,000 to 1,977,000 and births decreased from 3,256,000 to 3,241,000 as the population rose 1,164,000 in 1973 compared to the previous year's 1,294,000.

Ruling against Electric local

A National Labor Relations Board administrative law judge ruled today that Electrical Workers Local 309 has engaged in unfair labor practices at the R. Dron Electrical Co. in Granite City.

The local is ordered to cease coercing non-members by threatening physical abuse, and to stop attempting to have them discharged.

It must repay Clayton H. Williams for loss of pay he may have suffered. John T. Gurganus is said to have suffered loss of wages as a result of an assault upon him, but is not to be reimbursed for staying home three days to protect his family.

New problems for Ashcraft

James Ashcraft, Glen Carbon auto dealer being sought in connection with disputed car titles, is being sued by Keith Roepke, Edwardsville, who says Ashcraft bought his pickup truck with a $1,000 bad check.

In addition, an unsatisfied U. S. District Court judgment of $17,828 has been obtained against him by L & S Carpet Mills, Dalton, Ga., for non-payment of a note issued to secure carpeting for retail sale in a Cape Girardeau furniture store.

Cars valued at a half-million dollars are involved in the current title investigation by area and state police.

Auto, test probes

The office of Sheriff John Maeras is the subject of two investigations that began last week and are continuing this week.

Bo Beuckman, Collinsville Ford Dealer, says he met specifications for factory air conditioning on 35 cars he sold for $103,775. But Clarence Brown of an Edwardsville Dodge agency said having cooling units installed later—was Beuckman's—would have enabled him to bid lower.

Brown's third lowest bid was $105,745.

Maeras said that once he initiated the request for new cars, he had nothing to do with the buying process, which was handled by the Finance Committee, Central Services Committee and County Board.

W. L. Rhoades dies at 68

William L. Rhoades, 68, of 2815 Maple Ave., a lifelong resident of Granite City, was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 10:20 a.m. today. He had been ill 10 years.

Mr. Rhoades was a member of the First Assembly of God Church.

He was employed as a burner and blueprint reader for 30 years at General Steel Industries before he retired in 1971.

His wife, Mrs. Anna C.

Finance Chairman J. J. Gramlich, a retired car salesman, said Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer suggested he investigate.

Committee Member James Heil of Godfrey said the cars should be returned to Beuckman.

The other issue involves law enforcement classes attended by deputies at Lewis and Clark Community College.

At least four officers have withdrawn under threat of suspension, after Instructor Ronald Ferguson said a test form was taken and duplicated.

A deputy is said to have convinced a night watchman to unlock Ferguson's office.

The test was for a course on juvenile law, and only a portion of the 83 students thought to have seen the test paper.

Rhoades, died April 30, 1973. Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Steve (Beaton) Asperger of Madison and Miss Hazel Rhoades of Granite City; a brother Randall Rhoades, of Warren, Mich.; three sisters, Mrs. Willis (Beulah) Snyder, Mrs. Florence Clanton and Mrs. Thelma Hendrick, all of Granite City and one grandchild.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Mrs. Morris, 45, succumbs

Mrs. Mary M. Morris, 45, of 2201 State St., ill for seven years, died at 4:45 a.m. today at St. Elizabeth Hospital where she had been a patient two months.

Born in Stewart County, Tenn., she had resided in this area for 30 years. Mrs. Morris was a member of the West 22nd Street Baptist Church.

Her husband, Wilson Morris, died in 1971.

Survivors include three children, Mrs. Carol Foster, Granite City, Mrs. Carlene Constant of Rockford, Ill., and Jim Morris of Granite City; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Goble Kirkland of Clarksville, Tenn.; 10 brothers and sisters, Mrs. Goldie Marsh of Granite City, Mrs. Ruby Norfleet, Mrs. Gustie Johnson, Glenda and Robbie Kirkland, all of Clarksville, Tenn., Mrs. Pearl Hall of Hopkinsville, Ky., Mrs. Edna Light, Hendersonville, Ky., George Kirkland, Erin, Tenn., Charles Kirkland, Dover, Tenn. and Marvis Kirkland of Tennessee; and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Dock burglarized

Items worth several hundred dollars were stolen from a mobile office and three storage sheds at the Granite City Wharf.

The trailer window was broken and door opened. Taken were a camera, calculator and a cutting torch. A propane gas torch was found on top of a filing cabinet which apparently had been used to search some files.

The padlocks were broken from the doors on the three storage sheds and torch gauges and small hand tools were taken.

AUTOMOBILE FIRE

The car of W. E. Born, 3218 Colgate Place, caught fire at 2600 Benton St. at 5:51 p.m. Friday, causing approximately $100 damage. Granite City Firemen spent 15 minutes extinguishing the fire, believed to have been caused by a car-buretor backfire.

Snowstorm on Easter in state century ago

Medical school in new building

Expense system challenged

Easter came to Illinois on a snowstorm a hundred years ago. Street cars were delayed but church attendance was not seriously affected, according to a check of April 1874 newspapers in the collections of the Illinois State Historical Library.

While the snow was widespread, the Peoria area was hardest hit and the Transcript reported: "On Saturday evening a heavy snowstorm set in and continued through the night and forenoon of Sunday (Easter, April 5)."

"About twelve inches fell and lays very compact and heavy" and "the several street car lines were unable to run their cars until late in the day."

In Chicago, the snow started falling on Saturday evening and "continued without intermission for nearly twelve hours. But the cars did not cease running, and it was not unpleasantly cold."

The Sunday Tribune added: "Those who were most inconvenienced by this snowy humor of an April day were the ministers who had prepared sermons 'appropriate for the occasion,' and who had studied their hopes rather than the weather reports.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Page 10 Mon., Apr. 1, 1974

"Nearly all of them had prepared glowing comparisons between the dead winter in the frozen grave, and the joyful advent of Easter Sunday, rich with sunlight, and melodious with songs of birds, all of which comparisons had to be thrown overboard."

The Rock Island Daily Union reported a three-inch snow there and the Springfield Daily State Journal said that "notwithstanding the storm—rendering the condition of the streets very difficult for pedestrians—church services were largely attended."

The Chicago Tribune of Easter Sunday 1874 consisted of 16 bed-sheet size pages without any illustrations but with several columns on fashions of the day.

Black silk was very much in favor and the Tribune commented that it "is getting to be like the would-be wit's advice to the learner of whist: 'When you don't know what to play, play a can. When you don't know what to wear, wear black silk.'"

Among the "fashion items" from New York were notes that "Masculine coats are to be worn by the ladies next summer" and "Many of the ladies are disappointed with the new bonnet. It is a nondescript sort of an affair, and it is difficult to tell which is front and which is back. The grapes, grass, and various flowers give it a rural appearance, at all events."

A fashion note for men stated that "the Ulster coat business has been rather overdone the past winter."

"Last year they were novel and took immensely among the initiators of Beau Brummel, but now the garment is worn by gamblers, horse jockeys, professional gentlemen and worse characters."

Although many papers did not pay much attention to fashions, all of them carried news of the great temperance movement that began several months earlier.

The Bloomington Pan-graph, on April 7, summarized the results of the campaign: "Women's temperance movement thus far: 37 cities and towns entirely free from the liquor traffic; 1,761 liquor saloons in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois closed, and 800 liquor sellers reformed."

In those earliest years of baseball, the fans were evidently already sighing for the "good old days."

The first paragraph of the Tribune's "Baseball Gossip" column read: "It is just beginning to be fairly realized that Chicago is to have a first-class ball club this season, and that the memorable contests which took place during 1870, 1871 and 1872 are to be repeated upon the green diamond."

"It may be doubted whether we shall ever see again the immense crowds, the strong interest and the hearty enthusiasm which used to attend the old White Stocking games, but it is certain that the really excellent nine for 1874 will to a great degree succeed in reviving the old-time popularity of the national game."

Siren test at SIUE Tuesday

The disaster alert siren system at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be tested Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Siren tests at the university are made quarterly to assure reliability.

Rubert Hayes, safety coordinator at SIUE, has warned the campus community of the approach of the spring tornado season and has urged "special attention be paid to tornado watches and tornado warnings when they are made for the area. Fifty-eight tornadoes were reported in Illinois during 1973."

The administrative offices of the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine in Springfield have moved into a new educational facilities building, bringing almost to a close the first phase of the building's construction plans.

Some minor work still remains to be done to the building's third and fourth floors where the student laboratories and the medical library will be located.

The building situated near Memorial Medical Center, was begun in 1972 and built at a cost of $1.8 million. The first phase presently houses the offices of the dean and the associate deans for medical education and medical sciences.

Construction on the building's second phase has begun. When completed by July 1976, it will add another 120,000 square feet to the building's floor space.

The medical school will continue to maintain offices at various locations in Springfield and at St. John's Hospital and Memorial Medical Center.

MECHANICS SPECIALIST James E. Flowers Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Flowers Sr., Granite City, presently is stationed in the Navy at Andrews Air Force Base in Washington, D.C. He is an airman apprentice and is specializing in aviation support equipment mechanics. He was a 1973 graduate of Granite City High School.

A monthly expense account for Chouteau Township Highway Commissioner James Estes came under fire from the town board of auditors at the annual public hearing on the road budget last week, but the auditors gave their approval to the budget—including the expense account—on a split vote.

Auditor Cletus Bedwell questioned the $100 per month expense account, asking if Estes expended that much and challenging whether reimbursements for actual mileage and expenses would exceed the current $1,200 per year flat rate. Mrs. Patricia Polley, town clerk, also criticized the expense account, telling the Press-Record, "I personally feel that the monthly flat rate travel expenses should not be paid by the township. Mileage and expenses should be reimbursed on the basis of actual miles driven and supported by appropriate vouchers."

Mrs. Polley emphasized that she does not have a vote on the board, but said she has made her feelings known to all of the township auditors.

Bedwell cast the only negative vote on the budget. Voting in favor were auditors Marion Sparks, Wilfred "Bud" Eberhardt and James Greer.

The board made one change to the tentative budget which had been posted, transferring $800 from the auditing portion of the administrative appropriation and placing it into salaries for maintenance of roads. The transfer did not affect the total road and bridge budgets of $93,900, up from $91,800 last year.

Approved were a road and bridge budget totaling $90,900, an Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund of $5,000 and a new equipment and building fund budget of $5,000.

3 named to board for Illinois lottery

Gov. Dan Walker has appointed the first three members of the new Illinois Lottery Control Board, including two executives in advertising, marketing and public relations.

They are Carlton Zucker, 55, Chicago, vice president of Leo Burnett, USA; Daniel J. Edelman, 53, Chicago, president of Daniel J. Edelman, Inc.; and Miss Mildred A. Bury, 49, East Peoria, an office planning engineer with Caterpillar Tractor Co.

Beginning July 1, the Lottery Control Board will establish the rules and regulations for the lottery after holding public hearings. It will then advise the Department of Revenue on the lottery operation.

The lottery is expected to pay out more than $60 million in prize money annually.

Gov. Walker said the lottery board appointments are part of an effort to "take every responsible step possible to speed up work on the lottery."

As a result of the appointments, some preliminary decisions can be made to get the mechanics of the lottery established, he said.

The board will meet regularly with Revenue Director Robert H. Alphin to stay abreast of the meetings will help assure that the lottery gets under way as soon as possible after July 1, consistent with sound management and protection of the lottery itself, Gov. Walker said.

When the lottery begins operations later this year, it is expected to return about $1.2 billion a week to the state's general revenue fund, the governor said.

Other appointees to the five-member board will be named by Gov. Walker later. Members will serve without salary. The appointments, which are to take effect July 1, must be confirmed by the Senate.

Although the board will not operate as a policy group until July, the appointments are being made early "to be sure the lottery will begin as quickly as possible."

Nonn, Willaredt complete course

Two Granite City policemen have completed the basic 240-hour police training course at Belleville Area College.

Chief of Police Ronald Veizer of Granite City was the keynote speaker for the graduation ceremony for the class of 34 policemen, which included Patrolmen Craig Nonn and Steve Willaredt of the Granite City Police Department.

"Professionals in Law Enforcement" was the topic of Veizer's talk.

Nonn was honored for having the best course notebook in the class.

AUTO LOOTED A $800 radio and the floor mats were stolen from the auto of George Reavill, 1635 Delmar Ave., it was reported Thursday. The car door was forced open. The car, which was on a jack, was dropped to the ground and the $25 jack also was taken.

Ask the Governor

Q. Why is there a new state tax on mobile homes and why doesn't this tax decrease as the home depreciates? Since the state taxes mobile home owners, why aren't there laws requiring park owners to have reasonable rents, clean streets and recreation facilities? Name withheld, Park City.

A. The "Mobile Home Privilege Tax" is the only tax that you, as a mobile home owner, pay for living within a local taxing district. In turn you receive the road maintenance, libraries and school services, police and fire protection and other public services provided by your local governments.

Since the age of your mobile home is not affecting the delivery of these services, you pay a flat 15 cents per square foot annually, under the law which became effective August 1973. This issue of depreciation which you raise is likely to be debated again in the General Assembly. Be sure to let your state representative and senator know your views on that issue.

The privilege tax was proposed after a 1970 court decision stated that mobile homes on wheels or blocks (not permanently immobilized) could not be classified as real estate or personal property under the Illinois tax law.

There are many persons who do not pay 15 cents per square foot. The law provides for a 20 percent reduction for persons, who live in their own mobile homes (as you do), who are over 65 or make less than $4,000 annually.

The Illinois Department of Public Health licenses and regulates the construction and operation of mobile home parks to protect the health, safety and welfare of those living in the park.

I have sent you a copy of the department's rules and regulations which describe the mandatory annual inspection of water mobile home parks. The cost of supplies, garbage and waste disposal, fire precautions, exterior determined by contract between lighting, electrical hookups, the park owner and home owner insect, and rodent control, or dweller and the state cannot swimming pools, streets and interfere there any more than in driveways.

Finally, you suggested laws to regulate rent for other homes to guarantee reasonable rents at any annual inspection of water mobile home parks. The cost of supplies, garbage and waste disposal, fire precautions, exterior determined by contract between lighting, electrical hookups, the park owner and home owner insect, and rodent control, or dweller and the state cannot swimming pools, streets and interfere there any more than in driveways.

Drop, don't run, advice to clothing fire victims

Injuries resulting from burning fabrics or clothing are some of the most painful and costly, according to Ordie Hogsett, University of Illinois Extension safety specialist. Every year there are about 2,100 deaths and 150,000 nonfatal clothing fire casualties, he added.

If your clothing catches fire, never run or remain standing, says Hogsett. Drop and lie down where you are. If you are in doors, roll into a rug or a heavy article such as a coat or wool blanket. If you are outdoors, drop and roll on the ground.

Plunge burned skin in ice water and keep the burned area submerged until the pain disappears. Or apply towels that have been soaked in ice water. Don't put greasy ointments on burns. And if the burns are serious, call your doctor immediately.

According to the National Fire Protection Association, the major causes of clothing ignition in the adult-age group are careless smoking, cook stoves, rubbish fires and heating stoves. With children, the major causes are playing with matches and cook stoves. Gasoline, lighter fluid and other flammable liquids spilled on clothing were factors in about 20 per cent of the cases studied. Hogsett lists four factors that determine the flammability or burning characteristics of clothing and fabrics:

1. All fibers will burn under certain conditions. Synthetic fibers are usually less flammable than cotton, linen, and silk fibers. The tendency of some synthetics to melt and form a syrupy liquid or a sticky tar-like substance can also produce deep localized burns.

2. Tightly woven, heavy fabrics will burn more slowly than sheer, lightweight, loosely woven fabrics.

3. A napped fabric with air space between loose, fine fibers will ignite much more readily than a smooth surface. Generally speaking, fabrics with shorter pile, greater density, and uncut loop construction will be less likely to burn than fabrics with a high, fluffy pile.

4. Close-fitting garments are less hazardous from a fire standpoint than loose-fitting ones. Flowing robes, flaring skirts, blousy sleeves, and ruffles are more likely to ignite in situations involving careless use of fire. Therefore, garments worn by men and boys are usually safer than those worn by girls and women.

Scout Troop 22 reunion planned

A father and son reunion of former members of Boy Scout Troop and Explorer Post 22 of Frohardt School will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 18, in Charlie's Restaurant.

The evening is being planned by two former Scoutmasters, Harry C. Wood and Russell Lockridge.

Persons wishing to attend may make reservations by telephoning Wood at 797-0213. Cost of the dinner is $5.50 per person.

Slides of Troop activities between 1956 and 1960 will be shown and news clippings will be shown.

During 1956-60, Troop 22 had the largest membership in the Cahokia Mound Council with 124 boy members. During the summer of 1967 it took three campsites to handle the 114

Scouts from the troop attending Camp Sunnyside. "Fathers of former troop members whose sons may not be living in the area now are invited to attend and current members of the troop and their fathers also are welcome," Wood said.

Easter chicks illegal

This year it's not only a bad idea to give children little chicks or ducklings for Easter, it's also against the law.

Director of Agriculture Robert J. Williams is reminding parents and pet shop operators that the Humane Care for Animals Act, passed in the last session of the legislature, specifically forbids the sale of such animals for pets.

The law reads: "No person may sell, offer for sale, barter or give away any rabbit or any baby chick, duckling or other fowl which has been dyed, colored or otherwise treated to impart an artificial color thereto. Baby chicks or ducklings shall not be sold, offered for sale, bartered or given away as pets or novelties."

Williams said, "While I am sure people who give these little animals to children, especially around Easter time, have the best of intentions, the practice is not only cruel to the chicks and ducklings but to the kids themselves.

"Children have neither the knowledge nor facilities to take care of these small fowl, so the animals are usually mishandled to death within a few days. It ends up causing them pain and the children the unnecessary sadness of the loss of a pet."

The state superintendent of Meat, poultry and Livestock Inspection, Dr. Paul B. Doby, said his staff is keeping an especially watchful eye out for violations of the Humane Care law as the Easter season approaches.

The place, as usual, the Madison Recreation Center located in Madison at 7th and Lee. Get those famous Lion Pancakes "hot off the griddle".

Minimal snowfall this winter north of here

By JOAN MURARO
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

If it doesn't rain, the old joke goes, it looks like a long dry spell. If it doesn't rain too much, the Illinois Civil Defense Department opines, it looks like a pretty good flood season. "Pretty good," when referring to flood seasons, means that there aren't many floods. Unlike, for instance, the disastrous 1973 spring and summer floods.

The rule of thumb, says Civil Defense deputy director and operations officer Robert Ritz, is roughly an inch and a half of rain during the snow thaw period. That much, or less, and things look good; that much and more, and there probably are flood problems.

C.D. Director E. E. Jones has been touring the state, meeting with local interested representatives on what to do if floods appear likely, outlining what help is available and how to get it.

The snow thaw period is that space of time from the first thaw until the last of the snow disappears, however long that may be. While Illinois has already had some thawing, northern states which usually contribute much of the melted snows which send Illinois rivers over their banks, haven't begun to thaw yet.

However, says Ritz, these states last winter had minimal snowfalls, raising Illinois hopes that the thaw period can be passed without disaster.

"Unless, of course, we have torrential rains like we had last March," he adds. While last fall and winter were unusually wet, and the ground has been heavily saturated, it appears that much of that ground moisture is safely running off, Ritz said, since rivers have been fairly high all winter and now are beginning to drop.

One day recently, he said, there were seven places in the state known to be above flood stage, "but nobody's getting wet because the levees are holding it."

Compounding the problem, Ritz said, is the fact that the tornado season is just beginning. To help local communities prepare for flash flooding—a perennial problem in some areas because of the flat terrain—as well as wind storms, tornadoes and other emergencies, the civil defense department has aided in establishing more than 3,000 little warning receivers throughout the state in such locations as schools, hospitals, offices and law enforcement agencies.

These remain dormant until an early warning signal usually received from the National Weather Service network, is flashed. Then the receiver turns itself on, conveys the message, and continues making a rushing noise until turned off again, in case the listener wasn't around to listen when the alert went out. The sound tells him to call headquarters, and the warning is repeated for him.

Federal funds pay for half the $140 cost, the community or user pays the other half, and the state supervises the program, Ritz said.

To improve warnings on flash floods, seven National Weather Service stations have now been tied into the Illinois warning system, he said. The staff of the state Civil Defense organization has completed a series of 12 meetings around the state, helping people prepare to help themselves if disaster strikes.

But the state agency continues to be available 24 hours daily when need arises. "We are always ready to help," he adds. "We're always ready to help."

Crackdown on tax cheaters in state

Increasing numbers of Illinois tax cheaters are finding out that breaking the state's revenue laws results in more than a mere slap on the wrist, Robert H. Alphin, director of the Illinois Department of Revenue, has commented to the Press-Record.

"During 1973, the department brought charges against 174 state tax dodgers. By the end of the year, there were 126 criminal convictions, which brought several prison sentences and thousands of dollars in fines. A number of other cases are awaiting trial," Alphin reported.

"On top of this, the department's enforcement action has resulted in collection of millions of dollars in civil fraud penalties, interest and back taxes."

The department took investigative action last year in every tax category it administers, frequently working in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, U.S. postal authorities, the U.S. attorney, state's attorneys and the attorney general of Illinois.

Illinois is quickly building a national reputation for its vigorous revenue enforcement activities as more and more state tax swindlers find themselves behind bars and facing stiff fines," Alphin said.

He outlined the results of some of the department's enforcement efforts since Jan. 1, 1974, including a record $100,000 fine and prison terms for violators of the state revenue laws.

The cases included fraudulent sales tax returns, failure to make books and records available, failure to pay motor fuel taxes and failure to file state withholding taxes. In addition to the criminal cases outlined, Alphin said the department has taken action to combat other state revenue violations through scores of arrests and indictments and the filing of criminal informations and complaints.

Former Madison resident dies

Word has been received here by Mr. and Mrs. Mike (Emily) Mejaki, 1721 Elizabeth St., Madison, of the death in Yugoslavia of Mrs. Emily Ponzini, 79, mother of Mrs. Mejaki and a former Madison resident.

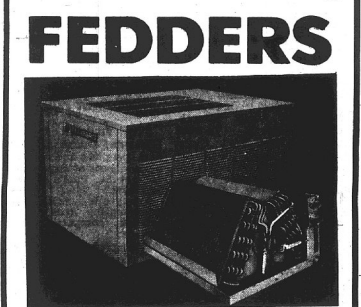

Mrs. Ponzini died in a nursing home near her home on March 27. She resided in Madison from 1925 until 1963 when she returned to Yugoslavia. Her husband, Albert Ponzini, died in 1944 in Madison.

She also is survived by one grandchild and three great-grandchildren, all living in the Quad-City area.

Funeral arrangements were not available, the family said.

Surgical center

Dr. Hector Zevallos, a Granite City gynecologist and obstetrician, and Mrs. Sue Lieber, a registered nurse and clinical specialist, reviewed the functions of the new outpatient surgical center, 2650 Iowa St., at the Thursday noon meeting of the Optimist club at the YMCA.

A new concept in outpatient surgery, the center enables individuals to undergo minor operative procedures without the normal three-day hospitalization period, the physician said.

The surgical center became a controversial issue shortly after being established, with anti-abortion groups picketing the clinic.

President Dave Fox reminded the membership that Maundy Thursday services and luncheon will be held April 11 at the First United Presbyterian Church.

Fox also reminded the members to sell their tickets for the Optimist pancake and sausage day to be held at the Nameoki Recreation Center on Sunday, April 28.

Optimist William Monical will present the program next week.

Impact data distributed

Information regarding the environmental impacts of the proposed Blue Waters Ditch interior drainage project is incorporated in the Environmental Impact Statement draft which has been distributed by the St. Louis District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The Blue Waters Ditch project includes 8,300 acres of urban and rural land just south of the East St. Louis area. This area is subject to frequent dramatic floods from inadequate interior drainage.

The project plan was formulated through a process of developing alternative solutions and presenting these to the public for consideration and comment, and to the State of Illinois, the local sponsor, for acceptance. It is the first such project scheduled as part of the entire Hillside Drainage plan. Over 150 copies of the document have been sent to agencies, organizations and individuals. A number of copies have been sent to public libraries within the area to facilitate the public information program.

The Corps is seeking response from residents and those affected by the project. Written comments and statements addressed to the Corps will be incorporated in the final submission of the Environmental Impact prior to filing with the Council on Environmental Quality.

Those wishing to comment may send their letters to the St. Louis District Office, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, 210

Photos on driver licenses planned in trial project

An experimental program which could lead to an applicant's photo on future Illinois driver licenses will be conducted April 1 through April 30 by Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett.

Four drivers examination stations have been selected to participate in the trial project. They are: Rockford, Lombard, Bloomington and Effingham. Photos of applicants for license renewals as well as those scheduled for inside or road tests will be taken at the four stations on a voluntary basis. All individuals will receive a special souvenir photo card from Secretary Howlett in addition to the regular license.

"Four different photo processes will be used at the pilot stations," Howlett explained. "We will evaluate results from quality, cost and operational factors for presentation to the State Legislature for adopting a permanent program."

Although 29 states now include a photo on a driver license, Illinois is the first state to test and evaluate possible

Project Speak at Dunbar School

Project Speak teachers and students from the Lily Freeman, Cannady and Jackson elementary Schools and Hughes-Quinn Junior High School of East St. Louis, will give dramatic speech and musical presentations at an assembly program at Dunbar School at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Project Speak instructors at the schools are Mrs. Esta Johnson, Mrs. Elizabeth Lewin, Mrs. Aretha Walker, Miss Vera Parham and Ron Barbre, respectively.

Bernard Long is principal of Dunbar School and Lillian Parks is director of Project Speak.

The program is federally funded under Title I. It is an enrichment program for culturally, socially, economically disadvantaged children dealing primarily with oral communications. Its aim is to improve speech skills by remediation, enrichment and development through individualized instruction. The Project Speak teacher works with the classroom teacher in determining the needs of the student and the methods to be used in order to meet these needs.

5 REASONS why you should not postpone the purchase of a home

1. A home of your own adds stability to your life.
2. Rising property values make owning a home a good investment. Unlike renting, your payments build up your equity.
3. Interest and tax payments are deductible.
4. A home of your own gives you a growing sense of security.
5. The buyer who waits loses in three ways. The cost of building materials goes up, the price of lots soars and the cost of labor goes up.

Army civilian employee joins National Guard as lady cop

In August 1973, Mrs. Carolyn J. Kamadulski of Granite City was among the first of 12 Civil Service secretaries joining the ranks of Army Readiness Region V, with her duty station the Readiness Group, St. Louis.

Carol, as the petite blond is known by her co-workers, lost little time in becoming thoroughly engulged in supporting the organization's mission of assisting 216 U. S. Army Reserve and National Guard units in Missouri, Southern Iowa and Southern Illinois.

The units are aided in attaining and maintaining prescribed readiness objectives. Recognizing that a viable recruiting and retention program is an essential element in achieving proper readiness, the Readiness Group involved itself in monitoring the recruiting campaigns being conducted by USAR and ARNG units.

This winter, Mrs. Kamadulski became Pvt. Kamadulski when Col. Frank Duggins, commander, Readiness Group, St. Louis, presided over her enlistment into the 204th Military Police Battalion, Missouri National Guard.

Pvt. Kamadulski departed the Readiness Group on leave of absence in March for 3 weeks of basic training at the Women's Army Corps Center, Fort McClelland, Alabama, after which she will receive eight weeks of military police schooling at Fort Gordon, Ga.

A bon voyage party replete with well wishes and refreshments was held at the Readiness Group St. Louis Headquarters.

Upon completion of schooling, she will return to her full-time job with the Readiness Group and as an active member of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 204th MP Bn, MONG, attending drills at Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

Not only is Carol the first civilian employee of the Readiness Group to join the National Guard, she will be the first school-trained policewoman assigned to HHC, 204th MP Bn.

Pvt. Kamadulski, a native of Tuscola, Ill., graduated from Granite City High School in 1964.

She is the eldest of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ehling, who own and operate a grocery store and service station in Annetta (near Litfield), Ky.

She resides in Granite City with her nine-year-old daughter, Joyce Renee, who is staying with Carol's sister in Kentucky during her 16 weeks of active duty training.

NATIONAL GUARD PRIVATE Carolyn Kamadulski of Granite City is shown being sworn into the service by Col. Frank H. Duggins, Army Readiness Group commander. She is on active duty for 16 weeks to receive basic training and military police schooling.

Those attending were great-grandmothers Mrs. Eva Jacobs, Mrs. Mary Franko and Mrs. Nettie Baxter; grandmothers Frances Franko and Eva Jacobs; and Carolyn Franko, Anne Baxter, Alene Wise and daughter, Pam, Janet Smith, Pat Patterson, Charlotte McKinney and daughter, Janet, Betty Podner and daughter, Debbie, Norma Allison, Nancy Wise, Rosa Lee Saunders, Sandy Jacobs, JoAnn Franko and daughter, Missy and Miss Debbie Jacobs.

Madison County Homemakers lead state in membership

Laura Ann and Oscar Ochs spoke on their hobby of doll collecting for 100 members of the 32 homemakers extension units at the annual new member party of the Madison County Homemakers Extension Association.

The Ochs gave an interesting slide-tape presentation on their collection of over 300 dolls from all areas of the country and world.

"Oh Say Can You See What HEA Has Done For Me," the theme for the day, emphasized that the 1973-74 goal for new members has been reached and that Madison County moved into first place in the state with 1,170 members. The tea was held last week at the extension office in Edwardsville.

Mrs. Clifford Slahut, county second vice-president in charge of membership, was hostess.

She welcomed the women and introduced the Extension Council members: Extension Advisers Catherine Mauck and Darlene Heer and Janette Mueller; and past presidents of the Association who were special guests.

Past presidents introduced were Mesdames Alma Eilers, T. E. Albrecht, Orville Plocher, Virgil Davis, Wilbur Hendricks, Guy DeChiara and Clyde Lebeque.

Short discussions on the adult and 4-H youth extension programs were given by Mrs. Robert Brave, county president; Mrs. Mauck and Miss Mueller.

The traveling silver cream and sugar set was presented to the Quercus Grove unit for getting the most new members during a membership drive held last September and October.

Guests were served from a tea table decorated with fresh floral arrangement.

Advance funds available to state universities

Attorney General William J. Scott held in an official opinion last week that the state treasurer can legally "advance" funds to the various state universities — in amounts not to exceed $200,000 — to initially establish working cash funds.

Without the rapid payment of small bills made possible by the fund, suppliers could be expected to add up to 15 per cent to the cost of goods and services to compensate for the necessary delay in payment resulting from processing each individual voucher and separate warrant for each small purchase.

Scott's opinion, requested by State Comptroller George W. Lindberg and joined in by State Treasurer Alan Dixon, thus affirmed a section of the new State Comptroller Act, which provides for the periodic transfer of state funds to the state universities. Expenditures of those funds are to be safeguarded by rules and regulations in internal controls established by the Comptroller's office.

Known as "imprest funds," the cash advances would be transferred by the state treasurer to a bank designated by the treasurer for use by the specified university. Expenditures from the imprest funds can only be made in accordance with the existing appropriation. The imprest fund system, as enacted by the legislature, is basically designed to reduce the amount of administrative procedures involved in issuing separate state warrants for each vouchered expenditure. Under the imprest fund system, each expenditure or purchase would still be vouchered and subjected to audit controls; however only one state warrant would be required to make a further transfer to the imprest fund.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Mon., Apr. 1, 1974

Scott's opinion also affirmed that the comptroller and the state treasurer presently have the authority under the State Comptroller Act to create such imprest funds for the universities.

Weed control essential

By WARREN W. BUNDY
Agriculture Adviser

Johnsongrass and musk thistle are two noxious weeds that local weed control authorities expect people to make reasonable efforts to control.

The University of Illinois Extension Service has an educational role in noxious weed control. We will help people to identify noxious weeds and will recommend control measures.

The governing body of each county is required by the noxious weed law in Illinois to establish a weed control authority and employ one or more weed control superintendents.

In Madison County, Paul T. Hawkins, environmental control official of the county sanitation department, is the weed control officer. That department operates under the direction of the environmental control committee of the County Board. Township weed commissioners also may be appointed.

The Madison County agriculture extension council and staff are cooperating in appropriate ways with county officials in efforts to control noxious weeds.

Farmers, urban and suburban landowners, railroad companies, road officials, and other landowners will be expected to make reasonable efforts to control noxious weeds on their land, according to action taken the past several months by the Madison County environmental control committee.

Farmers know that, if given the chance, johnsongrass will choke out corn and soybean crops and make fields almost worthless for crop production.

Controlling johnsongrass can be a problem. But the following new program will control it if you are willing to plant soybeans three years in a row. Apply and incorporate a quart to two quarts of treflan—this is double the normal rate—two years in a row. And apply and incorporate the normal rate of treflan the third year.

An older program that has been successful in controlling johnsongrass in corn and soybeans is the delayed planting program. The delayed planting program uses dalapon.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Mon., Apr. 1, 1974

Follow these steps:

1. Let johnsongrass grow about a foot high before you begin spring tillage.

2. Spray with dalapon, using 5 to 10 pounds of dalapon in 30 to 40 gallons of water per acre. Eight pounds of dalapon in 40 gallons of water per acre is a common rate.

3. Wait 7 to 10 days and then plow.

4. Allow the dalapon to decompose by waiting 2½ to 3 weeks before you plant corn. If you plant soybeans, wait the full three weeks to avoid crop injury.

5. Plant your corn or soybeans.

6. Control johnsongrass that grows from seed by making a preemergence application of eradicane or sutan-plus when you plant corn. For control in soybeans use treflan, planavin, cobex or vernam. Work eradicane or sutan-plus into the soil with a disk or other suitable equipment according to label instructions. Treflan, planavin, cobex or vernam should also be incorporated. These herbicides may sometimes injure the crop, but any possible injury is usually not significant compared to potential injury from johnsongrass.

7. Do a good job cultivating.

8. Watch for small clumps of johnsongrass and destroy them. Musk thistle can be controlled with 2,4-D. Late fall or early spring treatment of musk thistle with one pound of acetal 2,4-D in 25 gallons of water per acre will give fairly good control. Early April when the thistle is still in the rosette stage is the best time to treat.

Later when the plants are growing tall, spray the plants to the point of run-off with a mixture of one quart of 2,4-D in 25 gallons of fuel oil or kerosene.

Spot treatment of isolated plants may be made with the 2,4-D in either water or oil. Use water when plants are in the rosette stage, or oil after plants have started vertical growth. Observe all label precautions, because 2,4-D will seriously injure or kill most broadleaf plants with which it comes in contact.

Resident manager spots open

Applications for graduate assistantships as resident managers at Tower Lake Apartments on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus will be accepted until April 15.

Resident manager positions are available to married and single students accepted by the SIUE Graduate School into any academic program. Selection is based on academic record, recommendations and a personal interview.

The assistantship includes a salary of $270 per month plus housing and a tuition waiver. Resident manager positions provide practical experience in housing operations, administrative skills, group and individual advising, programming and special research projects.

Persons interested in applying for the assistantships may write Tower Lake Area Office, Box 36-A, Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville, Ill., or telephone (618) 692-2365.

They allegedly took a television, camera and other items from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tipwood, 5446 Maryville Road, March 8, 1974. Tipwood, 41, Edwardsville, sent a letter to the grand jury, asking for Harold "Butch" Vaughn, 31, of Pontoon Beach, was continued for about one week.

Vaughn was found guilty by a jury in February of conspiracy in connection with the removal of items from the Green Drug Store, 3401 N. Market Road, between May 15 and June 10, 1973.

She was arrested at her home by Investigator Paul Bargiel Wednesday evening and appeared Thursday before Judge William Beatty who set the bond at $50,000.

The victim was shot in the back with a .38 caliber pistol at 4:30 p.m. Friday, March 22, and is recovering in St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Drug arrest at SIUE

Security officers of Southern Illinois University found an estimated half-kilo of what is believed to be marijuana and some yet unidentified pills during a search of a Tower Lake apartment on the SIUE campus Thursday.

The search followed the arrest of Michael A. Hunter, 24, a sophomore resident of the apartment, by St. Clair County authorities in Belleville. Hunter is being held in St. Clair County jail for possession of a weapon without a firearm owner identification.

SIUE security officers and representatives from the office of the vice president for student affairs and the housing office searched the Tower Lake apartment for any additional weapons, but instead found the drug cache.

While the search was in progress a man identified as Vern Dillon, 26, Fairview Heights, knocked on the door of the apartment and entered, carrying bags believed to contain drugs. He was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana.

Pontoon ok's funds for official U.S. census

The Pontoon Beach Village Board Thursday night authorized the sending of a $1,620 check to the U.S. Department of Commerce along with a request for a federal census of the village be taken. The check and supporting documents are necessary before the census can be updated.

An unofficial village census conducted last year by the village board and a survey of newly annexed areas which recently was completed, indicate the village population is higher than the population shown in the 1970 census.

By having the Commerce Department verify the increase, the village would qualify for increased motor fuel tax and revenue sharing funds.

Documents relating to the village censuses and all pertinent annexation ordinances must be included with the new census request and village officials reported they now are in the process of preparing the application.

A $7,364 plan for upgrading certain roads under the 1974 BOCA basic building code as a resolution was tabled pending consultation with the village engineering consultants and Floyd David Moss, village board president, who was absent Thursday night.

The board voted to adopt the BOCA basic building code as a guideline for the village's building code. The action was suggested by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (SIMAPC).

Village policemen were granted an $80 per year clothing allowance, payable semi-annually.

A letter was received from SIMAPC, asking that a survey form be completed. SIMAPC is studying where governmental bodies are using building and zoning codes and which codes are being used.

The village was informed it is eligible for Federal Aid Urban Funds for road projects and was invited to send a representative to the Collinsville City Hall April 3 for a meeting on the program.

Teachers favor 2 incumbents

Officials of the American Federation of Teachers Local 743 of the Granite City public schools announced today the local endorsement of incumbents Donald Stucke and George Moore Sr. for reelection to the board of education.

The local did not endorse the bid of Harold Davis for reelection, choosing C. Mike Michalski Jr. instead at their favored candidate for the third school board seat.

Court censures Dakin Williams

The Illinois Supreme Court has censured W. Dakin Williams, a Collinsville lawyer, for violation of a canon of professional ethics. He represented Dr. John Lakes in a 1968 divorce action and later represented Mrs. Lakes in later proceedings to collect proceeds of his life insurance.

Williams said he was free to represent the wife after the doctor's death. The court said, "Clearly the death of a client does not discharge an attorney's duty of loyalty. Nor does an attorney's discharge by a client free him to represent adverse interests."

$300,000 verdict

The family of the late Willis Brannon has been awarded $300,000 verdict by a jury in Granite City in a suit against the Southern Illinois Hospital Corp., Minner Construction Co., Inc., McDonald Inter-American Corp. and Dover Elevator Co. The verdict was in behalf of Arthur, Kevin Jo and Kerin Riley Brannon, family of the deceased.

Willis Brannon was killed when his head became caught between a moving dumbwaiter and an access door sill at Doctor's Hospital in Carbondale Jan. 2, 1972, while Brannon, a plumber, was cleaning a drain at the bottom of the dumbwaiter shaft.

Park swim pool fees raised

Due to increases in operational and material costs the Granite City Park Board has increased Wilson Park swimming pool admission prices for this summer.

The prices for residents of the park district have been increased from 35 cents to 50 cents for children and from 75 cents to $1 for resident adults. Non-resident fees for children are increased from 75 cents to $1 and non-resident adults from $1 to $1.50.

The board approved the purchase of $2,000 worth of plexiglass material to block off the winds on the south end of the skating rink, which will extend the skating season.

Granite City Moose Lodge 272 was given permission to use a softball diamond for their home games in the countrywide Moose league.

Madison still awaits word on grant for new school

No decision as to employment of an architect for a proposed new middle school was reached at a special meeting Thursday of the Madison Board of Education.

The board has delayed contacting any architect pending word of approval on their application for a capital assistance grant.

Superintendent John Palchiff said that he has been unable to obtain any information on the status of the grant from the Capital Development Board in Springfield.

The present junior high school is on a two-shift schedule because of inadequate space.

The board awarded Lake Side Roofing Co. of Granite City, low bidders at $29,885, the contract to roof Blair School and the main building of Harris school.

Mark Porter, 10, of Rural Route Six, Edwardsville, was struck by an auto driven by Mary J. Slezinger, of Edwardsville, at 7:10 p.m. Friday on Old Alton Road in Chouteau Township.

The boy was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with a cut in his forehead and abrasions to the chest.
